Occupational Medicine Flight (OMF)

OMF provides diagnosis and treatment for occupational injuries and illnesses, as prescribed by private physicians. OMF care includes Acute Care and Physical Examinations.

Acute Care: OMF provides diagnosis and treatment of occupational injuries and/or illnesses. OMF also provides urgent or one-time treatment for non-occupational injuries and/or illnesses with referrals to private physicians when indicated. The purpose of treating non-job-related minor illnesses is to enable the employee to remain on the job.

Physical Examinations: OMF performs a variety of physical examinations, which include pre-placement and annual occupational surveillance examinations. OMF provides assistance and advice, and coordinates with appropriate personnel from the Civilian Personnel Division concerning compensation cases, on-the-job evaluations, and the results of physical examinations for medical placement.

Medical Worksite Visits (MWSV): OMF visits hazardous and potentially hazardous shops to detect risk factors and assist supervisor in the maintenance of a healthy work environment. OMF also provides assistance with a variety of preventative medicine programs, with the goal of ensuring the health and wellness of the working population through the identification and control of potential health risks.
